

Neither Here Nor There Narrating Your Experience Abroad

CHID 498 B

How was your trip?

Students returning from study abroad often find it difficult to answer this question. How can one explain in just a few short words an experience that was complicated, transformative, difficult, and euphoric—often all at once?

This class will provide students with a space to revisit, rethink, and share stories about their travels. Participants will also make something tangible about of their experiences by editing and producing content for an online issue of a CHID-run student journal about study abroad.

Instructors: Erin Clowes and Nick Barr Clingan | VLPA | Spring 2016